Only Three Major Bills To Be Considered

Members Hope To Adjourn Session of Congress Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 87th Congress—its ranks dwindling almost by the hour—sends its rear guard in a weary, all-out charge toward final adjournment today.

Only three bills of any importance were still to be cleared out of the way, and Senate and House leaders were hopeful — but not burning with confidence — that they would be wrapped up by late afternoon or tonight.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana summed it up by saying adjournment should be possible today, but "I would not bet on it."

Both houses were skating on thin ice as far as a quorum was concerned. The House produced more than half of its membership Thursday, but the Senate has not risked a roll-call this week. It always presumes a quorum to be present unless questioned.

The reason for the low attendance is that many members have hustled home to campaign for the Nov. 6 congressional elections.

There was a brief flicker of hope that shop would close up Thursday night after the prolonged and bitter row over the agriculture money bill was settled.

This hope was crushed by a stubborn controversy over the bill authorizing future rivers and harbors and flood control projects, the water-projects measure.

House and Senate conferees will try again to iron out their differences over the bill, after two previous fruitless sessions.

The Senate version of the measure authorizes more than $4 billion worth of projects, the House bill $2.2 billion.

Passage of this legislation is not essential, and there has been talk it might be put over until next year. But the more than 200 projects involved have so much political appeal in an election year that strenuous efforts are being made to compromise it.

Also remaining were two appropriations measures needed to run the government in the current financial year.

One, a final clean-up supplemental, passed the Senate Thursday night carrying $550 million as compared with $404 million voted by the House. Conferees were to meet to reconcile the two versions.

The other money bill to be cleared is the $5-billion public works measure which was agreed to in conference several days ago but has been held up pending action on the supplemental.

Appeal Studied In Courthouse Dispute

LISBON — Columbiana County Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp Thursday took under advisement an appeal from a ruling of the Ohio Personnel Board of Review directing the reinstatement of Mrs. Jane Case of Columbiana as PBX operator at the Courthouse.

At a hearing yesterday, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said the return of Mrs. Case would inflict a hardship on Mrs. Alma Huffman of East Palestine, present switchboard operator.

A hearing is expected within 10 days on the ruling made by the Personnel Board of Review. The three members, Minor C. Kershner, Reuben M. Payne, Democrats, and Paul F. Benson, Republican found Mrs. Case guilty of political activities as charged but voted to suspend her for 120 days instead of dismissing her.

This hearing also is expected before Judge Sharp who will then rule in both cases.

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Aviation authorities said a twin-engine transport which carried 23 passengers and a crew of five crashed and burned today near the village of Carmona.

The $5,487,029,500 Agriculture Department appropriations bill was sent to President Kennedy late Thursday after a row between Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and the House was settled by a compromise.

Russell finally won out in his demand for funds for six research laboratory projects at Sidney, Mont.; Mandan, N.D.; Watkins-ville, Ga.; Tucson, Ariz., Byron, Ga., and Carbondale, Ill.

But he had to give up on a peanut marketing research facility proposed for Dawson, Ga., and agree to accept only $4.9 of the $25 million the Senate voted for farm research.

Both branches also cleared to the White House the $2.3-billion highway financing bill for the next two years.

The chapter's pro-rata share of the Northern Ohio Red Cross Blood Program, $4,624.24, plus $3369.32 local expenses, brought the total cost to $4,993.57, Raymond said.

Child Struck By Car Critical

Two Others Hurt In Auto Mishaps

Three persons were injured, one critically, in three accidents investigated Thursday by Canfield and Lisbon patrolmen of the Ohio Highway patrol.

Gregory Rhodes, 3, of East Liverpool was admitted to East Liverpool City Hospital in critical condition with lacerations of the forehead and scalp, fractured skull and right leg and possible spine and chest injuries, after he was struck by a car driven by Leo G. Davis, 35, of MC 21, East Liverpool.

The accident occurred at 6:50 p.m. on County Road 433, three and two-tenths miles southwest of Route 170. According to Lisbon patrolmen, the boy ran in front of the Davis car.

In a car-train accident at 8:30 p.m., on Ellsworth Station Road, one-and-one-half miles north of Ellsworth, Russell Barber, 52, of RD 2, Columbiana struck a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train. Barber was injured, but Canfield patrolmen did not ascertain where he was treated.

According to patrolmen, Barber was looking for a side road and didn't see the train parked on the tracks. The train continued on, patrolmen said.

In a two-car accident investigated by Lisbon patrolmen at 2:50 p.m. on Route 62, three and six-tenths of a mile west of Salem, Russell Barber 56, RD 1, Columbiana was injured.

Barber was admitted to Salem City hospital with an abrasion above the left eye, contusions of the head and possible chest injuries.

But Changes In Ordinance Are Proposed

Extension of Levy Period, Division Of Funds Studied

A general vote of approval was given by the six councilmen attending a committee-of-the-whole meeting Thursday night to the renewal of the one half of one per cent income tax which expires Dec. 31.

But several proposals on changing the existing ordinance remain to be ironed out prior to re-enactment of the tax.

Council will decide the feasibility of extending the tax for several years at a time instead of for an annual period as in the past and whether the tax yield should continue to be divided on a 60-40 basis, with 60 per cent going into the general fund and 40 per cent earmarked for capital improvements.

Board of Review Proposed

Also discussed were possible enforcement of a section of the ordinance dealing with hiring a board of review for the income tax department, the proposed publishing of quarterly reports on disbursements of the funds and the preparation of a report covering long-range projects to be financed by the tax.

Harold Asty (D. 3rd Ward) suggested that Council consult J. Emerson Davis of Youngstown, who set up the income tax program for the city, on the proposal to extend the effective period of the tax when Council passes the next ordinance.

Councilman James Aldom (D. At-Large) urged re-enacting the tax on a five-year basis and leaving to future councils to repeal, amend or revise it.

"I have no doubt in my mind that the income tax has to be continued," Aldom said. "We should draw up a measure aimed at solid agreement by all the councilmen and arrive at a good ordinance that every council wouldn't have to study."

Cit's Public Support

He said that if the income tax has a good record and Council does a good job disbursing the money, the public will support the tax on a long-range basis. "This income tax is in the city until some other Council changes it," Aldom continued, "and once it is passed, people will learn to live with it."

Both councilmen John Rance (R. At-Large) and Charles Gibbs (R. 2nd Ward) were in favor of the tax but wanted it renewed and passed on a yearly basis.

"The city can't operate without the income tax," Rance said. "But the principal thing that made me approve the income

East Liverpool Expressway to Be Dedicated Wednesday

The East Liverpool Expressway link of the Lake Erie to Ohio River Freeway is nearing completion, with dedication ceremonies set for Wednesday.

Aerial photographs (see above) taken several days ago show that ramps on the W. Eighth St. Interchange are complete and that the bridge carrying the freeway over Eighth St. is finished.

Work started Jan. 18, 1961, on the $3,505,779 contract which was awarded to a joint venture of Chapin and Chapin and Baker and Hickey with headquarters at Norwalk. Completion date for the contract is Oct. 31, this year.

Total estimated cost of the Expressway, including engineering and right of way, is $5,819,880. Length of the project from beginning to end is 1.4 mile with the work length, including ramps and connections, being 2.5 miles.

Arrangements for the dedication are being made by the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce. The public has been invited to attend the ribbon-cutting exercise which will be held on the W. Eighth St. Bridge at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Fidel's Okay Awaited On Prisoner Deal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—American negotiator James B. Donovan waited hopefully today for a summons back to Cuba and a decision by Fidel Castro on the release of 1,113 invasion prisoners.

Donovan termed his latest offer the maximum that could be made. He said it consisted entirely of medicines, drugs, medical supplies and baby foods—the latter considered by him in the medical category.

The New York lawyer said he is optimistic that the Cuban prime minister would accept. He acknowledged their talks left certain points unresolved.

He declined to give details, or to put a price tag on the medical supply offer. He said this could not be done because much of the material would be donated and some purchased at cost.

Castro originally demanded $62 million in cash for freedom of the prisoners, seized in the ill-fate invasion of April 17, 1961.

Donovan flew in Thursday from Havana—where Castro had kept him cooling his heels much of the time since last Sunday.

At a news conference he said he thought he might be called back for Castro's decision or further parleys in a day or two. He took pains to emphasize several points, obviously to knock down rumors and speculation creating excitement and controversy in this country.

1. There has been no breakdown in negotiations, He and Castro are "still getting along."

2. Despite his optimism, he can-

R. Thomas Works To Resume Operation

Contract Okayed By Lisbon Strikers

LISBON — The 103-day-old strike at the R. Thomas Works of the H. K. Porter Co. came to an end Thursday night when union members accepted the company's latest proposal in a secret vote at St. George's parish hall.

The firm's offer was presented by D. M. Van Schoik, plant manager, at a meeting at Village Hall Wednesday among plant and union officials and Harold Roach of Akron, federal mediator.

The new contract calls for a four-cent-per-hour raise from Oct. 15 to Oct. 15, 1963, four cents per hour the next year and three cents from Oct. 15, 1964 to May 1, 1965.

It also provides for one additional paid holiday to be selected by the union, and an increase in hospitalization insurance benefits from $30 to $45 a week.

Following acceptance by the union, Van Schoik said between five and 10 men will be recalled Monday to ready the plant for operation. The rest of the employees will be called back as soon as preparations warrant.

Approximately 140 production workers had been on strike since July 1.

The R. Thomas Works, Lisbon's largest industrial employer, manufactures electric insulators. It has an annual payroll of about $800,000.

Prior to yesterday's acceptance of the contract by the union, several unsuccessful meetings were held among union and management officials and federal mediators.

Union members today removed their picket tents and planted grass seed on the sites.

Officials Warn Nikita on War Over Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kennedy administration officials are carrying on a calculated campaign to try to persuade Soviet Premier Khrushchev that he is risking grave danger of nuclear war if he forces the Berlin crisis to the brink of military action.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has taken the lead in issuing nuclear war warnings in recent public statements.

Further opportunity for cautionary statements will be offered the administration next week when West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder holds policy talks here with President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and McNamara.

The reasoning behind the drive, high officials said, covers these points:

1. The best informed authorities in Washington believe that Khrushchev is planning a new Berlin crisis beginning about a month from now.

2. The gravest danger in such a crisis, if it develops, is that the Soviet leader may not believe even after the repeated statements of Western determination to stand firm in Berlin, that the Western powers actually will fight when the chips are down. He may therefore overplay his hand.

3. The probability is that final decisions on Soviet actions with respect to Berlin are still to be made. Khrushchev has recently been away from Moscow. Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has

Community Chest Agencies:

City Hospital's Expansion Plans Geared To Increase In Services

One of 12 agencies sharing in United Fund money is Salem City Hospital, ever expanding facility dedicated to improvement of the health of district residents and travelers in physical distress.

In the calendar year 1961, there were 6,168 admissions to the Salem hospital, the vast majority of them involving residents of this vicinity but a number of them involving persons of distant cities and states taken to the hospital as a result of automobile accidents and other emergencies. Patient days number 32,179.

Other 1961 statistics at the hospital, which is allotted $4,500 of the hoped-for $82,000 to be collected in this year's United Fund Drive, include: surgeries, 1,733; births, 926; emergencies, 2,811; lab procedures, 61,098.

In addition, 451,848 pounds of laundry were processed, and 91,067 meals were served to patients and employees.

Slightly more than 21 per cent of the patients last year were Salem residents. Lisbon residents comprised more than 18 per cent of the patients in 1961; and Columbiana, more than 11 per cent.

For ambulatory out-patients last year, 4,281 lab procedures, and 4,314 X-rays were performed.

Robert F. Rice who was hospital comptroller for two years is acting administrator.

"The number of hospital personnel changes from time to time according to patient demand," explains Rice. "However, a recent count reveals a hospital staff of 210 persons who include nurses, office workers, technicians and members of the house-keeping and maintenance force."

A third of the staff are employed on part-time basis; two-thirds, full time.

Rice also reports that plans are in the final stage to add two floors over the stock area in the East section of the hospital. The federal government will defray a third of the estimated $450,000 cost for the additional 26 rooms.

Bridges Near Gavers Among Nine Replaced

NEW PHILADELPHIA — Two narrow bridges near Gavers in Columbiana County were among nine replaced this year in Division 11 of the Ohio Department of Highways.

A new three span, 36-foot wide bridge has been completed over the West Fork of Little Beaver Creek, to replace an old 13-foot wide bridge that had a 20 per cent load reduction. This is part of a two-mile improvement costing $381,042. The bridge is east of Gavers.

The other bridge was completed on Route 164 just south of Gavers. This 36-foot wide structure replaced an 18-foot wide bridge over the West Fork of Little Beaver Creek. The total cost was $93,995.

Through the reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, this publication, along with other publisher members of ABC, voluntarily and regularly give the buyers of advertising more verified factual information than is available for any other advertising media at any time.

Certainly We're Sure — it's an ABC publication!

Once upon a time advertisers were, whether they liked it or not, performance speculators.

They couldn't help it, because advertising media circulations were generally unknown, unnamed, and unmeasured quantities. Circulation figures, on which advertising space costs are based, were frequently influenced by the pressures of competition, desire, or publisher's ethics, sometimes bearing little relation to actual fact.

Today, however, advertising money can be invested on the basis of FACTS—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a nonprofit, independent association of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers.

This publication is a member of ABC. Its circulation is audited by specially trained circulation auditors and reported in accordance with standards established, and maintained by ABC—the highest standards of advertising value.

Buyers of advertising can be sure how much circulation this publication has, where it goes, how it was obtained how much readers pay to see it, and other FACTS that tell them what they get for their advertising money. It pays to be ABC audited sure!

Illusion That Didn't Come Off

Even if Congress had cleaned up all unfinished business and adjourned last week, as had been expected, it would have been next year before its work could have been appraised.

As it is, an adjournment coming at the end of an off-to-Buffalo shuffle out of Washington, with something resembling an audience-milking curtain call thrown in for extra measure, blurs the legislative scene so badly it may never come into clear focus—not even for experts who spend lifetimes appraising congressional sessions.

This much can be said for the 87th Congress without waiting on further appraisal—that it deepened an impression which has been growing deeper with each session of Congress for many years.

STARTING as far back as the second Roosevelt administration in the '30s, Congress has been in the ascendancy and the prestige of the White House has been declining in matters of government policy.

The executive branch of the government is losing the lead in government initiative. It continues to propose policy, but it has had no power to impose policy since the early years of the New Deal.

No one has muttered about a threat of dictatorship in this country for years; the thought has gone out of the people's minds. There have been no complaints about executive "domination" of the legislative branch.

Telegraphers Are Excellent People

The Chicago and North Western Railway case involving telegrapher-station agents may help to clear a precedent for dealing with personnel on obsolescent jobs.

Obsolescent jobs are those falling into disuse, like obsolescent machinery. When telegraphers were the newest technicians in the field of communications and demand was greater than supply, pony express riding became an obsolescent job. If there had been a union of pony express riders and it had been looking after its members, it would have insisted that no express riders should be turned out to pasture with the horses they rode.

Employers of the riders, in turn, would have said that employers of telegrapher-station agents are saying now—that they had no wish to be hard-nosed about it and would do everything they could to find useful work for the riders but business was business, and no one could be permitted to block progress.

THAT'S a fact. No one must block progress.

If the word ever went around that a work-

New PTA Year Begins

Parents of Salem school children are getting a closer look at the schools and knowing more about the aptitudes and attitudes of their offspring as the result of Parent-Teacher Association meetings that are closely related with the opening of the 1962-63 term.

The PTA brings together parents, teachers and other citizens interested in working together for the welfare of children and young people and the schools in general. The response of more than 200 adults at the Senior High PTA open house the other night was indicative of the interest yet it is important that this interest doesn't wane during the year. Program chairmen will find this a real challenge. The real benefit of PTA membership is serving through participation.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I think the most disenchanting thing that happens in our land of the free is to discover seekers of public favor playing off glibly voters against one another by inventing false issues, the way mischievous children might stir up a flock of chickens.

George Ratterman's Satepost excerpts from his book on being a "gypsy quarterback" in pro football made me laugh all the way through a show on the living room gawk box — I never did know what the show was about, because Ratterman was too much competition.

National Newspaper Week, coming up, is a great idea but it would be better if newspapers didn't have to toot their own horn. Freedom of the press was guaranteed to the people of the United States, not to the newspapers.

I am hardened to the incongruities of the legal mind, but the Mississippi thing has me reeling. Th elawyer fellows who have moved into that situation now are trying to make it appear that someone owes the you-all South an apology for taking civil rights seriously in the first place.

We have owned dogs that hit you with their feet to get attention and dogs that hit with their muzzles but now we have one that uses their muzzles but now we have one that uses her what she wants the effect is like stepping a fast round with Sonny Liston.

I keep wondering how it would be if a Southern "gentleman" got overjoyed on kick-apoo juice and killed a "Yankee" member of the U.S. military forces deployed in a restraining action around Oxford, Miss.

Poets outdo themselves on rhapsodies about October, but if I were a poet I'd try to do justice to themorning mists. They cover nature in the night, snug beneath blankets of leaves, silence and gossamer that swirls like ghosts of summertime. Catch on, poets?

The phrase "rubber stamp" is used now to denote a rubber stamp, not a state of mind.

Harry Truman made political capital out of abusing Congress, and tried to create an illusion that he had triumphed over legislative opposition in his 1948 campaign.

Dwight Eisenhower tried to create an illusion that he welcomed a chance to cooperate with Congress and respected all senators and representatives for what they stood for even when he disliked them as individuals.

John Kennedy seems to have had it in mind at one time that he and his staff were masters of Congress, able to play it by telephonic impulse and lapel gripping as a virtuoso might play a musical instrument.

THE KENNEDY illusion isn't coming off either.

The young President is hitting the campaign glory trail thumping for more Democratic representatives and senators his administration can count on for support. But where would such Democrats be found?

The era when Americans elected to Congress were expected to do what the chief executive wanted them to do has been a sometime thing and now it's gone, perhaps forever. It's not going to be revived for the 88th Congress, because it was absent in the 87th Congress.

That much can be said for the 87th Congress—that much without fear of contradiction.

er had a proprietary right to employment and this would be the precedent, technical progress would stop immediately and affluent living would stop soon afterward.

Displacement has been the price of progress in our era of industrialism. Pony express riders learned to become telegraphers. Telegraphers must learn to become something else when their jobs yield to progress.

Isn't it of special significance that the still young men learning to orbit the earth and reach for the moon in space capsules are test pilots who paused only briefly in the airplane era before signing up for adventures beyond the pull of gravity?

In aviation the "dope" scarcely was dry on the fabric of the first crude planes before pilots were wondering how it would feel to crack the sound barrier in planes that hadn't been dreamed of when Charles A. Lindbergh made history with the all-metal Spirit of St. Louis.

TELEGRAPHERS are excellent people. The Chicago and North Western insists it will keep as many of them working as it can.

But telegraphers had their crack at progress too, when they edged out the pony express riders. That was the price of progress in another generation.

Home Levy Vital

Columbiana County commissioners are hoping the general public's response will be greater at the polls Nov. 6 than on Wednesday when only one person showed up to take advantage of the open house inspection of the County Home on Route 172 west of Lisbon.

The commissioners will have a seven-tenths mill levy on the general election ballots as a means of raising funds for needed repairs and general maintenance at the infirmary.

A visit to the Home would convince any person that the operating levy is a vital need.

My tongue is half bitten through from listening to people who say thus and so is giving aid and comfort to communists when I suspect the chief aid and comfort comes these days from fist-clenching people who tell other people what they should do about communism.

There's a functional design for everything used to perform a function and this year's automobiles, which look much alike, except for sports cars, are as close to functional design as the automobile industry is likely to get.

If those pictures purporting to show airline pilots holding stewardesses on their laps and dozing at the controls were taken on the ground, as the airline claims they were, the question ceases to be one of public safety and becomes a question of personal morality.

Never a week goes by that I am not reminded by another behind-the-scenes report that this branch of the entertainment industry can be killed dead if its glamor finally is taken away by tell-all pieces.

Many people are so bubbling over with ingratitudes that if you saved them from drowning they would gasp that you had sprained one of their ligaments and they wouldn't be able to walk comfortably for goodness knows how long.

The more I learn about the problems of keeping prisoners secure in jails the more merit I am aware of in an institution no longer with us — the prison ship. There was nothing to break out of on a prison ship, so why break out?

Girls wearing their hair Fiji Island style will permit no pictures to be taken for possible showing to their children, to the accompaniment of raucous laughter and shrieks of incredulity. Not if they're smart. But if they were smart, would they wear their hair in such an outlandish and unbecoming style?

President Kennedy Biting Hands That Fed Him

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy seems to be getting a bit contradictory in his weekend campaigning for an increase in the Democratic majority in Congress.

On the one hand, he says he wants a majority in Congress that will support his legislative measures. On the other hand, he is asking at the same time for the defeat of those Republicans who did vote to support important measures in his program.

Take, for instance, the housing bill which was passed last year. The President says that "82 per cent of the Republican congressmen from the state of Michigan voted against it." But he still asks for the defeat of the 18 per cent who voted for the measure.

Also, with respect to the bill for urban affairs, Mr. Kennedy asks for the defeat of the 27 per cent of the Republican delegation from Michigan who voted to support his bill.

On the Peace Corps bill, Mr.

those Republicans who did vote to support important measures in his program.

Take, for instance, the housing bill which was passed last year. The President says that "82 per cent of the Republican congressmen from the state of Michigan voted against it." But he still asks for the defeat of the 18 per cent who voted for the measure.

Also, with respect to the bill for urban affairs, Mr. Kennedy asks for the defeat of the 27 per cent of the Republican delegation from Michigan who voted to support his bill.

On the Peace Corps bill, Mr.

Kennedy received the support of 27 per cent of the Republican delegation from Michigan, but he nevertheless asks for their defeat. The same thing is true with reference to the trade expansion bill, on which he received 27 per cent of the Republican congressmen's votes, but the President wants those Republican congressmen from Michigan defeated just the same.

In the State of Minnesota, Mr. Kennedy told the people he wanted them to defeat all Republican congressmen from that state — notwithstanding the fact that 33 per cent of the delegation voted as he wished them to do for the bill to provide federal aid for higher education.

THE PRESIDENT has been saying the same kind of thing in Kentucky, where Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican, who has voted in favor of several measures in the Kennedy program, is running for reelection.

Mr. Cooper voted with the administration on medical care, trade expansion, extension of unemployment compensation, area redevelopment and housing. Nevertheless, the defeat of Sen. Cooper was urged by President Kennedy in his recent speeches in Kentucky.

In a speech at St. Paul, Minn., the President said:

"I recognize that both political parties, Republicans and Democrats, are both concerned for the welfare of their country. What concerns us in this election, what brings me to this state, is because I believe in 1962 those programs for which we stand serve the best interests of our country and strengthen our country and move it forward."

Mr. Kennedy, however, is asking the voters to defeat even those Republicans who agree with him about the "welfare of their country." The President knows that most Democratic senators and representatives from the South have voted against several of his measures, but he is not asking the voters to defeat them. He is not even campaigning in those states. He isn't calling for their defeat, or even the defeat of Democratic senators in the North who have opposed certain important measures he has proposed.

Today the Democratic party has virtually a two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress. But Mr. Kennedy doesn't think this is enough. He evidently wants: a four-fifths majority in both houses — more than any president of either party has had in the last half century.

FORMER PRESIDENT Eisenhower seems to feel that Mr. Kennedy is striving for a one-party system. In a speech this week in Los Angeles, Mr. Eisenhower, noting that the Democrats have a 3-2 majority in the House and a 2-1 margin in the Senate, asked:

"What does he want? One-party government? That's the thing we're supposed to be against."

In the Soviet Union, of course, they do not permit free elections but the men at the top of the government do select the candidates.

Mr. Kennedy's real trouble is with members of his own party—especially the Democrats from the South. Instead of going before the people in the primaries in those states and expressing his opposition — as other presidents of his party have done — he refrains from any form of political attack. Indeed, he fears that he may antagonize Democrats who, upon reelection, will continue to be chairmen of important committees.

To accomplish indirectly, therefore, what he cannot do directly, Mr. Kennedy proposes to punish Republicans who support him in order to get Democrats elected who presumably will vote his way on every issue instead of on selected measures.

SO IT ALL adds up to a scorn of Republicans who have helped the President out of many a legislative hole in the last two sessions of the present Congress.

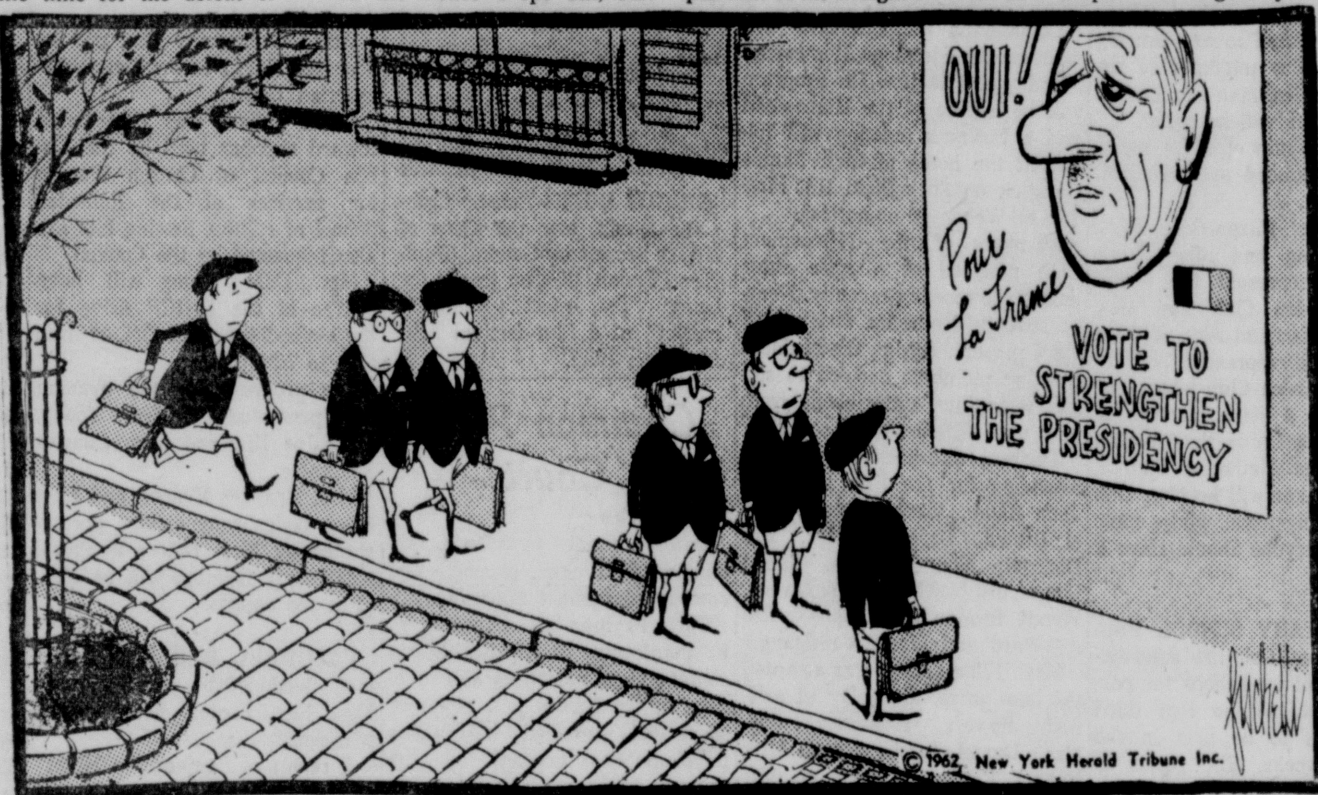

It's a declaration of political war against the very bloc of Republicans without whose help Mr. Kennedy could not have presented to the country the record of accomplishment on which he now asks the people to elect a higher proportion of Democrats than ever before.

Will the President be able to get any considerable "bipartisan" support again in Congress after his tactics in the present campaign, which are bound to alienate Republicans who voted with him?

It's certainly a paradoxical if not contradictory position for a president of the United States to present in all candor to the voters in a congressional election.

Nixon Stumps for Laborers' Votes

By VICTOR RIESEL

SAN FRANCISCO I asked Richard Nixon why he was pounding the pavements in districts of California where unionized working people live.

Why is he spending his hours and sapping his energy in fatiguing early morning visits to the gates of plants in which work thousands of strongly unionized men and women? Why — when the leaders of 1.73 million union members in California have virtually unanimously decided to drive him from the political arena in this state and therefore in the nation.

"I am taking my message," responded Dick Nixon, "to labor's rank and file ... (because) the top labor leaders have refused me the courtesy they have granted my opponent of addressing their convention and meetings. What are they afraid of?"

The former vice president said he would concede the election to Gov. Pat Brown if he, Nixon, thought he would not win about half of California's labor vote.

"SOME PEOPLE seem to find it astonishing," said Nixon, "that a Republican candidate for office will devote considerable time to campaigning among working men and women. 'What's the point?' they ask. 'The labor people won't vote for you. They're solidly in the Democratic camp.' If that were truly the case, then I should give up campaigning entirely and concede the election ...

"The working men and women constitute the majority of voters in California. And if I am to become governor of this state, I will need their votes. And, as governor I feel it is my duty to know the problems so that I can make decisions which will be in the best interests of all the people of this state."

Nixon then recalled his photo-finish race against the President. "When I carried California in '60 against President Kennedy, I received over 30 per cent of the vote of union members. This year I am aiming at at least 40 per cent. And I believe I will get it. For I have already detected, in my 'person-to-person' campaigning great dissatisfaction with the Brown administration among workers."

"UNEMPLOYMENT is higher in California than it is nationally. 'We have near-depression situations in the lumber and mining industries in the northern counties. In Los Angeles, the once-mighty film industry is in a depressed condition. Construction workers are doing badly in San Francisco, at a time when their brethren elsewhere never had it so good. San Diego has been a major labor surplus area since September 1960. Employment in the aircraft industry, alone, is 12,800 below a year ago."

I asked him of his experiences at the "gates." California's workers, "including members of unions whose leaders have endorsed my opponent, are giving me a respectful hearing, wherever I go," Nixon replied.

"Take my recent visit to the Bethlehem Steel Shipbuilding yards in San Francisco. In World War II, I was told, some 19,000 people were employed there. Now only some 1,000 workers draw weekly pay checks. This is a shocking peacetime situation. What is even more shocking, as I told the Bethlehem workers, is the unwillingness of the present administration in Sacramento to face up to job gaps such as these.

"By that I don't mean more handouts to the unemployed. 'That has always been the easy way out for those incapable of coming to grips with major — and to them insoluble — challenges."

"THE PUBLIC treasury has always been the refuge of the unimaginative politician. What is needed in California is an end to economic ignorance in the state capital."

"More handouts are not the answer to the unemployment problem. The answer is more jobs."

The Republican nominee for governor then charged that the state was losing jobs because it was losing industry. "A major reason for this," asserted Nixon, "is that California now has the highest taxes in the nation and one of the more costly and wasteful state governments."

"And what I tell working people is that the first state in the nation needs a government that will vigorously crusade for new private business investment, an administration that will cut government cost so that taxes will be low enough to make us competitive with the rest of the nation, and a government that will inspire confidence because of its dedication to free enterprise and private initiative.

"These are not just slogans. These are the basic differences between my opponent and myself. His philosophy is that it is better to turn to government than to private enterprise for progress."

"MY CONVICTION is that we should never turn to government where private individuals can do the job. Much more imagination than merely looking to Washington is required."

Then Nixon wound up rather proudly with a quote from the People's World, the West Coast Communist weekly paper.

"The latest issue of this sheet," he said, "concludes its major editorial by exclaiming that 'Nixon is a menace.' This is the highest compliment the Communists could pay me. The Communists make no secret that my political destruction is their number one aim. Surely this is no secret to our state's savvy anti-Communist labor leaders."

"It is my expectation, however, that labor's rank-and-file may have their own ideas this coming November when they enter the polling booths."

"That's why in the remaining weeks of the campaign, you will find me continuing to pound the pavements in places where workers live, raise their families, and earn their livings."

I asked a blunt question. I got a blunter answer.

So They Say

My feeling is that nothing good can come of necking. — Candy Jones, former model and author of juvenile advice book.

Addition to milk makes a boy mother-drawn ... Once he has a taste for milk he will never develop properly as an individual. — Percy Cerutti, Australian track coach, urging a ban on milk for males.

Of all the many problems that have beset the metropolitan police in the past, the most serious issue facing the force has been the state of crime. — From 1962 annual report by London police commissioner.

I do not expect to hibernate or stagnate. I plan to become a missionary ... preaching the gospel of conservatism to those members (of Congress) who will listen and who may yet be saved to a happier future. — Rep. Noah Morgan Mason, R-Ill., retiring after 13 terms in the House.

Matter of Fact

It has been estimated that the average person consumes 1,400 to 1,500 pounds of food a year. However, about 70 per cent of this food is water. Food technologists are well aware that if water could be removed, significant changes and savings in distribution, storage, and preservation of the nutritive value of foods would result. For instance, dehydration can represent a saving in transportation weight and space of about 60 per cent or 800 pounds per person annually.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Why don't you quit kidding the public? You constantly are urging readers to "see a psychiatrist." I'm beginning to think you are on a nice, fat retainer from the National Wig Pickers Association.

My husband and I have a long list of friends who have been in analysis for years. They are just as nutty as ever. They drink just as much and are just as miserable. The only change is in their social vocabularies. They now use such two-bit words as "projection," "displacement" and "identification."

One of my husband's associates has been in treatment for 14 years. He has become so dependent on his analyst that he has to phone him in the morning to ask which necktie to wear.

We know three couples who have been divorced because one or both got mixed up with head shrinkers. (One woman married her psychiatrist.) These people stood each other fine until they began to poke around in each other's subconscious.

If you can show me just one person who has been helped by psychiatry I will eat this paper. — FROM MISSOURI.

Dear From: Please read the next letter — and start nibbling.

Aided by Psychiatry

Dear Ann: I'm a college girl who has read your column faithfully for the last four years. It always irritated me when you advised people to seek professional help. I figured it was a gimmick to duck figuring out a solution. Now I know better.

Trouble is no stranger to me, but these last two years I've had more than I could handle. Life seemed to be closing in. I felt overwhelmed and helpless. I was afraid to make decisions, and terribly depressed when I made the wrong one.

You urged me to see a psychiatrist. At first I was annoyed. I had expected you to come up with a magic formula to solve all my problems. Later I got to thinking, "What have I to lose?" So I made an appointment.

I've been in treatment for six months and I'm beginning to understand myself — and others. I feel better physically, too. Many of my old aches and pains have disappeared.

Oh, I still get down in the dumps occasionally, but now I can cope with my depressions. I no longer feel helpless. I know tomorrow will be better. And it always is.

The point of this letter, Ann, is to encourage others not to be ashamed to get help if they feel they need it. All of us can use guidance at some time or another no matter how self-sufficient we may be.

Thank you for showing me the way. I will always be indebted to you. — HOPE.

Dear Hope: Your signature is the key. Often the promise of a better tomorrow is the only thing that gets us through today.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Last 25 Years Were Good For Negro Race

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Negro in America has made more progress in the past 25 years—toward equal treatment with whites—than in the rest of this country's history. He still has a long way to go, both in the North and the South.

Only about 25 per cent of Negroes eligible to vote in 11 Southern states have been registered to do so.

Only about one-third of the public school districts in the 17 Southern and border states have been desegregated to some degree. And Negroes frequently complain of discrimination in some Northern school districts.

A little more than half the tax-supported colleges and universities in the 17-state Southern and border area have been desegregated in practice or principle.

Yet the constitutional provisions to give Negroes undiscriminated equal treatment in voting and the usual spheres of living have been on the books almost 100 years, the 14th and 15th Amendments.

But the Supreme Court in the latter part of the 19th century boiled the meaning out of these protections for the Negro.

In 1896 it handed down a famous decision saying it was all right to segregate Negroes so long as they got treatment equal to that of whites. It was the doctrine of separate but equal.

It was too much for one justice, John M. Harlan, who protested in a dissenting opinion "our Constitution is color blind." It was to be 58 years before the men on the Supreme Court of another day—1954—agreed with Harlan and reversed the ruling of 1896.

The first chipping away at the 1896 decision came in 1917 in a decision which for some odd reason has been generally ignored in books on the court.

That year the court knocked out a Louisville city ordinance separating white and Negro residential districts because, the court said, it denied Negroes the equal protection guaranteed by the 14th Amendment of 1868.

But this didn't really jolt segregation. The jolts began in 1938 when Missouri, which had no law school for Negroes, refused to let a Negro enter the state's white law school.

The court—harping back to that separate but equal doctrine of 1896—said Missouri was treating the Negro unequally when it barred him from the white school without providing him with one for Negroes.

The court didn't say segregating the Negro in a Negro school was unlawful.

In short, it still stuck to 1896. Other decisions of this nature followed, with the court always ducking the central question: Isn't segregation by its very nature unequal under the 14th Amendment?

The court finally faced the question in 1954 when, in one of its truly momentous decisions, it ordered public schools desegregated with a ruling that knocked out the 1896 decision completely by saying separate means unequal. Many other steps followed in many fields, always slowly.

The court has ruled out segregation on buses and trains.

Congress in 1957 and 1960, for the first time in this century passed civil rights laws to give Negroes more protection, especially in voting.

Some of the picture as it is now follows in figures provided by the Justice Department, the U.S. Civil Rights Commission and private sources:

Voting—About 1,400,000 Negroes, out of 5,045,000 eligible, have been registered to vote in 11 Southern states.

Public schools—About 960 school districts—out of 3,047 with white and Negro students in 17 Southern and border states—have now been desegregated to some degree. This fall 46 additional districts opened with some desegregation. Only four of them were under court order to desegregate.

Colleges and universities—of the 285 tax-supported schools on this level in the 17 states about 155 have been desegregated in practice or principle.

Eating facilities — About 116

STRANGER IN TOWN — Boy pauses to look at the "Cardinal" done by the contemporary Italian sculptor Giacomo Manzù. It was on display in the town at Spoleto, Italy.

Southern cities have at least one establishment that has desegregated eating facilities. In some cities, like Atlanta, desegregation has extended to other areas, like department stores, chain stores and some restaurants.

Hotels—Many Southern hotels now accept Negroes.

Employment — Equal opportunity for Negroes in employment hasn't made much progress.

City police and fire departments —About 560 Negroes are employed in Southern city police and fire departments in uniform. There are about 100 Negro detectives in the region, too.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Don't try to keep house the same way as your neighbor, friend, or relatives. Know your own best time and take advantage of that knowledge. For example, I used to be a slow starter, picking up momentum as the day progressed. I did my easy jobs in the morning and saved my heavier, nastier jobs for the afternoon.

Now I am at my peak first thing in the morning — can't lift a dust cloth from noon until three, and perk up again in the late afternoon and evening. I now tackle big jobs when I first get up and do very little or nothing when I feel all dragged out! I have found that I do a better job and can save one-fourth of the time.

MRS. D.

DEAR HELOISE: Five years ago, I bought a down comfort that was covered with rayon satin material. I have been sorry to this day. Come heaven or high water... I cannot keep it on the bed.

Anyone know how to keep them on the bed without fighting them eight hours a night? I cannot afford to cover it or buy a new one.

SEEKING COMFORT

Does anyone have the answer? I have this problem too. Sure would appreciate someone answering this woman. Send answers to Heloise, in care of The Salem News.

HELOISE

DEAR FOLKS: For those who like to grow vegetables from their own seeds, use discarded egg cartons and egg shells.

As each egg is broken and used for cooking, place the half shell back into the carton itself.

Fill each egg shell with soil and plant your little seeds directly in the shell. Place the carton in your kitchen window and watch them grow!

When the seeds have sprouted into little plants, just remove the shell and all and place directly into the ground.

This saves thinning of plants such as is required when we plant seeds directly into the ground. Besides, when doing this, we often disturb the little roots and the plant will falter.

Even though you are planting big plants such as certain types of tomatoes or beans... as the plant gets too large for the egg shell but is still not large enough for planting outdoors, the shell may (or may not) be cracked a bit and the plant may be put directly into milk cartons that have had the top cut off. These can still go in your kitchen window or window box.

When the plant reaches the stage where it is to be put into the ground, place the milk car-

The second manned three-orbit flight of the Mercury capsule took place on May 24, 1962 with Navy Lt. M. Scott Carpenter as pilot. Except that he overshot his landing area and, like John Glenn, had control problems, his flight was successful. NASA then announced that the next shot would be a six-orbit attempt later in the year with Lt. Com. Walter M. Schirra Jr. at the controls.

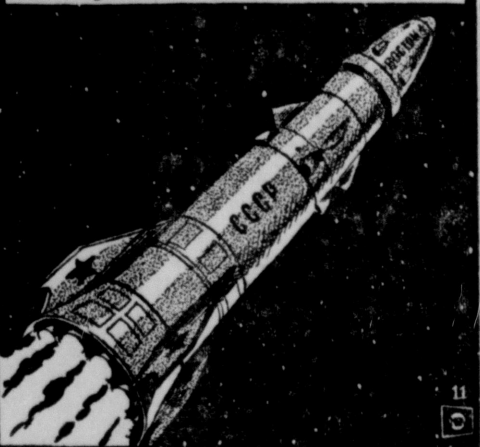

(11) After Mercury

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

Looking ahead past Mercury, plans call for the two-man Gemini capsule to go up in 1964. It will practice rendezvous techniques with fuel rockets in orbit. The spaceship designed to take Americans to the moon by 1970 is the three-man Apollo, which will be boosted by the giant Saturn rocket. The Apollo will orbit the moon while two men land in a small ferry rocket for a brief exploration.

That the Russians have the same ideas in mind—and are still ahead—was shown by the orbiting of Vostoks III and IV on Aug. 11 and 12. Cosmonauts Nikolayev and Popovitch circled the earth 64 and 48 times respectively. Although they did not hook up in space, the precision of their launchings and the length of their flights was impressive.

It's Hard To Decide What Shows To View

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—I don't know about anybody else, but I'm having a tough time settling down into any happy habits of television viewing.

For instance, Thursday night—that's when it's most difficult. Shall I dig in comfortably to watch Perry Mason bring a guilty person to justice, all the way to the epilogue when they tie up the loose ends? Or shall I wait for "Dr. Kildare," which starts at Perry's half-way point—and just when he's ready to go into the court room?

I'm an old Mason fan, but so far, I find I enjoy watching handsome "Dr. Kildare" more than "The Nurses," a series of the same medical genre, which follows my favorite television lawyer. But if I do decide to skip "Dr. Kildare" in favor of "The Nurses," that also means I'll miss "Hazel."

Or, again, take Tuesday night. I'm a dyed-in-the-wool "Dick Powell Show" fan—but I'm also a Jack Benny and "Garry Moore Show" devotee. Why, oh why, have the NBC and CBS programs forced me to make a choice? Surely there were ways they could have spread these popular shows in less competitive positions.

ABC's new "Stoney Burke," the series about a rodeo rider, has come up at least with a novel character—the semi-villain who is a regular member of the cast. That's a character called "Ves," played by Warren Oates, and a sort of despicable nice guy.

In two episodes I've seen to date, Ves has been in the employ of a cruel and shady exploiter of professional riders—and this week—the hiring of the shady promoters of a prize fight who were trying to keep the rodeo out of town.

Anyway, Ves is different from the evil villains and the mental cases which are so much around. He's—well, just sort of misguided and so sorry when he finds what mischief he's made.

Carol Burnett will be back visiting "The Garry Moore Show" next week, but the closest thing to a new "regular" on this season's series will be Roy Castle, the British comedian-dancer-singer who has been signed for about 20 shows. Alan King will be on 12 or 14—and probably Marian Lorne won't be showing up at all.

Recommended tonight: "Route 66," CBS, 8:30-9:30 EDT —The peripatetic series is back on the west coast with an adventure in surf-riding.

Saturday — "The Defenders," CBS, 8:30-9:30 — Story about the problems of adoption when the natural mother wants back an adopted child.

Pope Appeals to World Leaders

Asks Problems be Settled Peacefully

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII warned the world's leaders today that they "will one day have to account for their actions to God." He appealed to them to "give ear to the anguished cry of 'peace, peace' which rises up to heaven from every part of the world."

"May this thought of the reckoning that they are to face spur them to omit no effort to achieve this blessing, which for the human family is a blessing greater than any other," the pontiff said.

The 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church spoke at a special audience for the envoys sent to the Vatican by 85 governments for the opening of the Roman Catholic Church's 21st Ecumenical Council.

With Michelangelo's awesome "Last Judgment" as a backdrop, the pontiff told the envoys assembled in the Sistine Chapel that war today would "mean the destruction of humanity." He called attention to the vast fresco, "the seriousness of which gives one much food for thought" and warned, "We must indeed render an account to God."

Let the leaders of the world, the pontiff said, "continue to meet each other in discussions and reach just and generous agreements that they faithfully observe."

"Let them be ready to make sacrifices that are necessary to save the world's peace," he said. "The nations will then be able to work in an atmosphere of serenity. All the discoveries of science will assist progress and help to make life on this earth, which is already marked by so many other inevitable sufferings, ever more delightful."

The Pope's audience was the main activity in the Vatican today. No council session was scheduled, and the 2,700 prelates here for the conclave turned their attention to lining up candidates for the 10 commissions, of 24 members each, that will debate the issues before this greatest church meeting in modern times.

Ballooning starts Saturday in St. Peter's Basilica and will continue through three more private council sessions spaced through next week.

The council fathers will elect 16 members of each commission. Pope John will pick the rest. The pontiff thus can ensure active participation on the commissions of bishops—such as those from remote regions in Africa and Asia—who cannot line up enough geographical support for election.

Once the commissions are formed, the work of the council will shift into high gear. In the week starting Oct. 21 the prelates will meet five times in plenary sessions.

They will have much to do. Prior to the opening of the Church's 21st Ecumenical Council, preparatory commissions drew up 70 draft schemes or topics representing abstracts of nearly 9,000 different proposals received in a poll of the world episcopate.

New matters raised in council discussions may also be included on the agenda.

The council is concerned with Christian unity and the place of the Church in this age of enormous scientific, economic and political development. The discussions will touch on every important aspect of life in today's changing world.

English Truck Drivers Brave Traffic Jams For Tony's Food

GRANTHAM, England (AP)—A fine new highway curves round the edge of Grantham, but long-distance truck drivers ignore the bypass and continue to clog the town's narrow main street.

Investigating officials found they like to eat at Tony's Cafe, where a plate of eggs, chips and tomatoes sells for 3 shillings—42 cents.

"I'd rather get stuck in any traffic jam than miss a good fry-up at Tony's," said John Welsh. "Most of the lads think the same."

The authorities have persuaded Tony to move his cafe to a site on the highway.

Western Reserve Bond Issue Topic At PTO Meeting

Approximately 400 attended the Western Reserve P.T.O. meeting Tuesday evening at the Ellsworth building.

The school district gained approval from the state board to vote on a bond issue in the Nov. 6 election for a new High School building and Maurice Jones, school superintendent and Robert Corill, school principal, gave facts and figures concerning this issue.

This was followed by a question and answer period and remarks were given by school board members.

The P.T.O. gave money to send pupils in the journalism class to the journalism convention at Ohio State University Oct. 5 and 6 and Dolly Zimmerman gave a report of their experiences. Ronald Kessler read the article he wrote while at the convention that placed second in the state.

tax was Council's decision to review it annually."

Supports Rance's Views — Gibbs supported Rance's views. "If we let the income tax ride without a review, then we intend to let it ride without possibility of revision," he said.

Both councilmen felt that in future years, the city might be able to reduce the tax because of town and industrial expansion.

Ralph Zimmerman (R. 4th ward) urged that Council consult with Davis before extending the tax period. He also wanted the firm's advice on establishing a board of review.

Councilman Albert Lesch D. 1st Ward) favored extending the tax on a yearly basis. "I would vote for it again tomorrow," Lesch said. "We have accomplished a lot of things in the past year, and will continue to accomplish more in forthcoming years."

Approve Present Division

Most of the councilmen felt that the division of the tax yield should continue on the 60-40 basis currently in effect.

Gibbs proposed that the mayor and Council committee chairmen draft plans for long-range projects to be financed by the tax. "This way we can continue to run the city in an orderly fashion," he said.

Gibbs also asked that the city auditor publish quarterly reports on how the tax money is spent. His request was backed by Zimmerman.

Councilman Aldom suggested hiring a younger person as a deputy city auditor. He told Council, "It has been the policy of the city to hire older men and ignore the possibility that a younger man could fill the bill."

"I don't think it's proper the way people are hired for the tax department," Aldom said. "A young person doesn't have a chance in this city because the jobs are given to people on pension. There are many educated family men who have the ability and would welcome the added income but are never asked to serve in public offices," he said.

He also stressed that "unlimited" power shouldn't be delegated to one person in the city. "There never has been a tax board of review," Aldom said. "The city auditor at the present has the sole power to appropriate and spend money under the present income tax ordinance. I am not casting any reflection on the ability of our auditor, but why put so much power in one person's hand?" he asked.

Council recommended that another committee-of-the-whole meeting be held after the consultation with Davis. Council must approve the renewed income tax ordinance before Jan. 1, 1963 to be able to continue to meet city obligations, it was pointed out.

President of Council Ford Joseph Jr. was excused early from the meeting to attend another meeting.

Mishap

The Barber car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Dorothy Geen, 50, RD 2, Canfield, as he was in the process of turning into a private drive, patrolmen said. The woman was cited for failure to maintain an assured safe distance.

At 3:45 p.m. on the Lisbon-Canfield Road one and sixth-tenths mile west of Leetonia, a car driven by Dwight D. Smith, 16, of RD 1, Leetonia, overturned.

According to the patrol the Smith car was attempting to pass another vehicle, skidded off the side of the road and flipped over.

No injuries were reported in a two-car accident at 8:20 a.m. on Route 170, north of East Liverpool, in which cars driven by Donald Flanagan, 32, RD 1, East Liverpool and Kenneth Calhoun 33, Glenmoore, collided. The Flanagan car struck the Calhoun car as he was attempting to make a left turn. Flanagan was cited for making an improper turn.

been in New York but is expected to return to the Soviet capital next week.

In these circumstances, U.S. policy makers believe that now is the time to try to avoid an over-assessment by Khrushchev of how far he can go in seeking to force a Berlin settlement on his terms.

According to reports known to the White House and State Department, Khrushchev has told a number of Western visitors in recent weeks that he intends to have of the County Democratic Central Committee for Monday at 8 p.m. at the Lisbon Headquarters for the event.

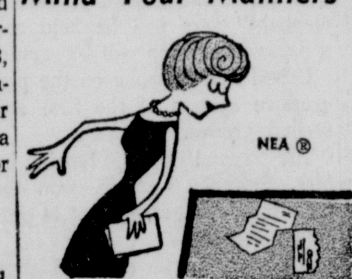

The Western powers see Khrushchev's arguments as designed simply to justify a slow motion Communist takeover of West Berlin beginning with the removal of protective presence of U.S., British and French troops.

What the Kennedy administration is once more trying to get across is that Western powers have no intention of removing their troops nor will they admit Soviet troops or U.N. forces as partners or replacements in West Berlin.

LISBON — Terry W. Wright, 26, of East Liverpool was fined $5 and costs Thursday by County Judge James L. MacDonald, for driving on an expired operator's license. He was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Home service program assisted 243 servicemen and veterans, answered 3,533 requests for information, counseling and limited services; made 115 home visits to families of recently inducted servicemen; and gave financial assistance in 12 cases, totaling $589.18.

Under the disaster service, headed by James Giffin and Russell Loudon, $96.94 was paid in outright grants to two families who were victims of dwelling fires.

The chapter made available 201 sick-room items from the loan room here and gave cancer dressings to many people in this area through the Cancer Society.

The Red Cross also acts as Travelers Aids and furnished assistance to two families, Mrs. Butcher said.

Mrs. Augusta Ibele, chairman, and Mrs. Virginia Worman, co-chairman, head the Red Cross nursing service which registers nurses to assist the chapter in carrying out its disaster and blood program and the teaching of home nursing and nurses aide procedure to women of North Columbiana County.

This service reported 55 nurses on the chapter's roll, 10 of whom serve at each visit of the bloodmobile. Forty eight Home Nursing certificates were issued.

Preventing loss of life and providing emergency aid at the time of accidents is the goal of the first aid and water safety services. Richard McArtor and Dorothy Carlariello are chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of first aid, and Thomas Butler is water safety chairman.

First aid certificates issued include: Junior, 55 standard, 152 advanced, 10; total 217.

Water safety certificates were issued to: Beginners, 168; intermediates, 122; swimmer skill, 53; in water safety aides, 12; junior life saving, 90; senior life saving, 39; total, 484.

The Junior Red Cross helped secure blood donors and assisted with unloading and loading the bloodmobile, collected craft materials for hospitalized veterans, gave food, clothing and toys to needy families here and sent 220 gift boxes overseas.

Twenty-two area schools are enrolled in Junior Red Cross; officers are: President, Georgianna Wukotich; vice president, Larry McKenzie; and secretary, Pat Kelly.

Red Cross Chapter funds on hand and receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30 totaled $23,938, it was reported. Disbursements amounted to $22,163, leaving a balance of $1,774.

Guest speaker was Robert K. Spangler, executive director of Canton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

In telling how Red Cross meets the needs of the people, the speaker explained the world-wide home service and disaster programs, pointing out that help is an outright grant to disaster victims where five or more families are affected.

Spangler commended the local chapter for its successful blood program with its community backing. He stressed the importance of providing youth with opportunities to serve in the Red Cross.

"people helping people" programs. Ray Reasbeck, vice chairman of the United Fund, spoke briefly, urging those present to join in an effort to help raise the $82,000 which is needed for the Red Cross and 12 other agencies of the community to carry out their civic programs.

Rev. Kevin Coleman of St. Paul Church gave the invocation, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. B. S. Whitney, rector of the Church of Our Savior.

Ford Faces Pierce As Yanks Try To End World Series

Rain May Halt Annual Event

Defending Champs Still Favored

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Neither rain, nor hail nor wind, all of which were predicted for today's scheduled sixth World Series game between New York and San Francisco, could prevent Manager Ralph Houk from forecasting a world championship for his Yankees in six games.

Storm Front Could Delay World Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rain and wind were forecast for San Francisco today and tonight, dimming prospects that the sixth game of the World Series would be played today.

A new storm front moving in on the coast also threatened the chance of play Saturday.

of the veteran left-hander's 12-0 record at Candlestick Park, Houk confidently expected the Yankees to wrap it up today—weather permitting—behind the left-handed slants of Whitey Ford. The Yankees lead the series, three games to two.

"I expect Ford to beat Pierce," Houk said Thursday picking Whitey over Bill Stafford, although it was the young right-hander's turn let the chips fall where they may," added Houk. "I'm not underestimating Pierce. It will be a tough battle but Whitey should win. He's fit and ready. I know Pierce hasn't lost here yet. But neither has Whitey. Remember he beat the Giants in his only appearance here."

Houk was referring to the opening game in which Ford scattered 10 hits and won 6-2 with left-hander Billy O'Dell the loser.

The odds-makers supported Houk's victory claim. They have established the Yankees a 13-10 favorite to win today and a 7-2 favorite to win the series.

The odds were even greater against the game being played today. According to the Weather Bureau, there was a 90 per cent chance of rain. Warnings of 30 to 45 miles an hour wind have been posted.

It was felt in some quarters that a postponement would prove beneficial to the Giants. A day's delay would give Ford four full days' rest and it has been Houk's contention that Ford is at his sharpest with only three days rest.

By the same token, a rainout would enable the Giants to come back with Jack Sanford, their right-handed ace, with sufficient rest for the seventh game, if one is needed.

Houk planned to start the same line-up he has used in every game but the second when injuries forced the benching of first baseman Bill Skowron and catcher Elston Howard. Skowron underwent treatment for a shoulder and hand injury Thursday but Houk said he would be in the lineup.

Dark, who has been shuffling his line-up from game to game, made another change. Because of the left-handed opposition, he restored the right-handed Harvey Kuenn in left field in place of Matty Alou, with Felipe Alou switching to right field, and returned Orlando Cepeda to first base, replacing Willie McCovey.

Like Houk, the Giant pilot appeared confident of victory in the sixth game.

70,000 Fans May Witness Browns, Colts Contest

CLEVELAND (AP)—A crowd of 70,000 is expected for the important interdivision clash between the Baltimore Colts and the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

The fans will gather to see the two former champions of the National Football League who have split their only two meetings. The Colts won the first one 21-7 in Cleveland six years ago. The Browns captured the 1959 game in Baltimore 38-31 in one of the most spectacular contests as Jim Brown crashed for five touchdowns and the Colts' Johnny Unitas passed for four scores.

Those players still hold the key to their teams' success. Unitas fallen on hard times and hears the boos from Baltimore fans last week as the Colts lost to San Francisco and he was benched at halftime.

Brown has dropped to second place in the rushing race he has won in each of the five previous seasons. He still is churning away at a 4.9-yard clip, but trails Green Bay's Jim Taylor by 77 yards.

Giants Will Receive Report Cards At End Of The Season

By JIM BECKER Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Every member of the National League Champion San Francisco Giants gets a report card at the end of the year. Good marks can mean more money.

While waiting today for the sixth game of the World Series with the New York Yankees, Manager Alvin Dark explained the "plus and minus" system he uses to grade every player on the team.

"It is our way of keeping records on the little things that win games, but don't show up in the regular averages.

"For example, if we have a base runner on second base with none out, if the batter moves him to third, where he can score on a fly ball. In the averages, all he gets is a time at bat. Of course, if he doesn't move him over, he gets a minus.

"A lead off walk in an inning gets a plus. Base runners who take the extra base get a plus, as do fielding plays.

"Another plus is scored for getting a runner home from third with one out. If the batter gets the runner home from third with two out, he gets even more credit.

"But a home run in the eighth or ninth inning, when we are ahead or behind by eight runs means nothing, and it gets no score.

"A home run that wins a game gets the biggest plus score. Willie Mays won six games this year with home runs in the late innings.

"Catcher Ed Bailey also won six games with home runs, even though he only hit 17."

Oddly enough, Dark said that certain bonehead base running plays are not scored as minuses.

"We feel that when a fellow makes a mistake like that, the fault lies with us, the manager and the coaches. We haven't drilled enough on that play."

Top Hitters Are Having Poor Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Slumping Mickey Mantle, with only two hits in 18 at bats in the World Series, suggested today the pitchers get a little credit.

"I haven't been feeling better physically in a long time," said the New York Yankee center fielder. "I have been getting good balls to hit and I have felt good swinging.

"You have to give the pitchers credit. They have been pitching very well to us, just like our pitchers have been pitching good to their hitters.

"A lot of the so-called big hitters aren't having much of a series."

Mantle is hitting only .111 but he is doing better than Orlando Cepeda, the San Francisco Giants' slugging first baseman, who batted .306, hit 35 homers and drove in 114 runs during the regular season. Cepeda still is looking for his first hit with a horrible 0-for-12 record. Giant Harvey Kuenn, a .304 batte, also is hitless with an 0-for-8 mark.

Liston Refuses To Appear At Boxing Hearing

NEW YORK (AP) — Another public hearing of the New York State Legislative Committee investigating boxing has left the committee miffed and its acting chairman doubtful of heavyweight champion Sonny Liston's reported rehabilitation.

Liston refused to appear at the hearing Thursday after being invited to refute testimony made before the committee on Oct. 2 by New York heavyweight Cortez Stewart.

The refusal nettled State Sen. Frank Pino (D-Brooklyn), the acting chairman, who said: "We are not very happy with the reply that we have received from Sonny Liston."

"I think that if Mr. Liston is acting in good faith it is incumbent upon him to answer some of the statements that were made by Stewart here under oath which very definitely tie him in with the underworld as of the time that the championship fight took place."

Later, Pino said the committee must conclude that Liston still has some connection with the underworld.

However, since Liston is not licensed as a fighter in New York, Pino said, the committee can take no action against him.

Stewart had testified that racketeer Blinky Palermo had tried to hire him in Philadelphia as a sparring partner for Liston last spring when Sonny was training for his title fight with Floyd Patterson. Stewart said he did not accept because the promised pay was lowered.

Miami Risks Win Streak At Purdue

OSU-Illini Game Features 22 Buckeye Grid Contests

By FRITZ HOWELL Associated Press Sports Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes, on the rebound after being baffled 9-7 by underdog UCLA last week, launch their 50th Big Ten Conference campaign Saturday against twice-beaten Illinois.

The Champaign contest should be a romp for the powerful Ohioans, The Illini — winless last year — have been trampled by both Washington and Northwestern this season.

The Big Ten fray is one of 22 games on Saturday's slate for Ohio teams.

Another big one is between Miami's Redskins and Purdue at Lafayette, Ind. In four previous tries against the Boilermakers, Miami hasn't won — but neither have the Redskins been blanked by the Hoosier hotshots.

The Miami club has won four straight this season, but the ninth-ranked Boilermakers loom as the toughest test of the campaign. Two games are scheduled in the Mid-American Conference, seven in the Ohio Conference, three in the Presidents' loop, and one in the Mid-Ohio.

Bowling Green's defending champions go against Toledo in the Mid-Am feature, and the Falcons could move out in front in the standings with an expected win. In the other, Marshall and Kent State battle to determine which gets out of the cellar.

Ohio University (3-0) meets Xavier (2-1) in a rugged non-loop fray at Cincinnati under the Dayton team entertains Louisville in another standout. The Flyers, last in the statewide standings with an 0-4 record, should hit their winning side this time.

The Ohio Conference offers Capital at Kenyon, Denison at Wooster, Ohio Wesleyan at Marietta (N), and Muskingum at Mount Union (N). All but Akron, Wittenberg and Capital have been beaten in league play.

Ohioans meet foreign foes in the Presidents' loop, with Case at Allegheny, John Carroll at Wayne and Thiel at Western Reserve. sends defiance against winless Wilmington.

Other games on the non-conference schedule are Ashland at Ohio Northern, Youngstown at South Connecticut, Eastern Michigan at Baldwin-Wallace, Kentucky State at Central State and Bluffton at Findlay. Bluffton's Beavers and Miami are tied for the statewide lead with four straight conquests.

Salem Junior High Rallies To Blank West Branch 6-0

Lantz caught a nine-yard touchdown pass with less than two minutes remaining in the fourth quarter to spark Salems Junior High School football team to a 6-0 victory over West Branch at Damascus yesterday.

It was the third win in five starts for the Quakers. Salem will travel to East Liverpool to face East Junior next week.

A bad pass from center on a West Branch fourth down punting situation gave Salem its big break in the final minutes. The Warriors' punter retrieved the pigskin, but was dropped on his own 10.

It took Salem three plays to hit paydirt and the Quakers led 6-0 with only 1:55 left on the clock.

Coach Bing Newton said, "The defensive unit did an outstanding job, West Branch never crossed the 50-yard line."

"It is the first time in six years that Salem Junior High has won three football games in a season," Newton declared.

Salem threatened just before intermission and was on the West Branch five as the half ended. The Quakers gained 208 yards rushing and passing. Salem picked up 89 yards the first three plays of the contest, but penalties nullified the offense, and put the Newtonmen back on their own four. Salem was penalized 160 yards during the tilt.

Washington Picked To Beat Cards; Browns Are Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — What, oh, what has happened to the Washington Redskins of the National Football League? They still are unbeaten, having won three games and tied one.

Gone are the days of having one sure winning pick by figuring the "skins" to lose. Balance may be great for a football league, but it plays havoc on the selectors.

Washington over St. Louis — If you can't lick 'em, join 'em, and "skins" are for real. Norm Snead has poise at quarterback and team has balanced running, passing and now defense.

Green Bay over Minnesota — Vikings own one of two TDs. Packers have allowed in four victories, and Green Bay wants that back.

New York over Pittsburgh — Giants' home opener last two years have been fiascos, but everyone is healthy, especially quarterback Y. A. Tittle.

Cleveland over Baltimore — Despite so-so pass defense that must face sharp-shooting Colts' Johnny Unitas, Browns too tough against declining Baltimore defense that must stop both Jimmy Brown and passing of Jim Ninowski.

Detroit over Los Angeles — Lions are ready to be taken after tough game with Green Bay, but Rams still not stable enough to do the job, despite expected return of halfback Jon Arnett from injury list.

Philadelphia over Dallas — This will be a real swinger, but the edge goes to Sonny Jurgensen's passing against the Cowboys' young secondary.

San Francisco over Chicago — 49ers beginning to move and should turn tables on Bears.

Boston over Dallas — This one is tonight and the combination of Boston's concrete defense and the experience of quarterback Babe Parilli gives Patriots edge.

San Diego over Buffalo — Rookie John Hadl in the driver's seat now for resurging Chargers, while winless Bills still waiting for his predecessor, Jack Kemp, to get his hand in shape to play.

Houston over New York — George Blanda has more to work with than Lee Grosscup of Titans, who must cope with injured knee that drastically limits mobility.

Denver over Oakland — The Broncos go rolling along at the top of the Western Division behind Frank Tripucka, who is rapidly closing in on first mile gained passing this year.

Sports In Brief

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Bulldogs of the United Football League have signed Preston Powell, 230-pound fullback who was a reserve with the Cleveland Browns in 1961.

The former Grambling College star was sold to Dallas during the off-season and the Cowboys sent him on to the Chicago Bears early in the training season. The Bears released Powell last month.

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—It was a bad night for Akron boxers at the Steubenville Armory Thursday night.

Freddie Martinovich, 138, of Pittsburgh scored a technical knockout over Roy Carruthers, 143, at 1:06 of the first round of a scheduled 10-round when the Akron fighter suffered a bad cut over his right eye.

Dick Whipperman, 196, of Buffalo, N.Y., stopped Billy Lewis, 180, of Akron at 2:32 of the sixth round of their scheduled six-rounder. Whipperman floored Lewis three times.

Boston Blanks Montreal 5-0 In NHL Game

BOSTON (AP)—Balding, barrel-shaped Bobby Perreault is a comic in the grim business of hockey goaltending.

But perennial champion Montreal is not laughing after Perreault blanked the Canadiens 5-0 Thursday night, launching a new season for Boston which finished a distant last in the National Hockey League a year ago.

In New York, Detroit came from behind in the third period and beat New York 2-1 in another season opener. Goals by Howie Young and Parker MacDonald wiped out the second period advantage the Rangers had taken on Dave Balon's score.

The little, round, 5-foot-7, 184-pound Perreault turned aside everything Montreal firepower could muster, making 27 saves.

Never Bend to Face 6 Horses At Belmont

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

We have hired a man to help us get our grocery department more on the ball. It will be his job to arrange our store for easier and more convenient shopping, also see to it that we are not out of items, everything priced and in the proper place.

If the next time you are down you see a lot of improvements don't leave thinking you are in the wrong store.

We are going to have a larger variety of food products, especially canned goods.

P.S. There will be no Horse Pulling Contest this Saturday, Oct. 13.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—I have rheumatoid arthritis in the greater part of my body. I am taking cortisone twice a day. What side effects am I likely to get? Is there any other medicine I should take?

A—When cortisone is given in too large a dosage, or taken over a long time it may cause facial rounding, waterlogging of the tissues throughout the body and therefore a gain in weight, hairiness of the face, thinning of hair, pimples, profuse sweating or dry scaly skin, an increased pulse rate, headache or weakness.

All drugs may, under similar circumstances, produce undesirable side effects. This is the reason that anyone who is taking a drug or drugs for a prolonged period should have frequent check-ups by his doctor and should report any unusual symptoms to him.

When side effects occur, it is necessary to determine whether disadvantages outweigh the benefits derived from the drug. Sometimes as one continues to take the drug, the body adjusts to it, and the side effects disappear.

If they do not, it may be necessary only to reduce the dose slightly to relieve the unwanted symptoms and still not interfere with the control of the disease.

If the cortisone you are taking should cause unpleasant side effects, your doctor may want to modify the dosage. If the trouble still does not clear up, he may prescribe a different form of treatment.

Q—Please keep us informed about strontium-90 in our food and water. Does cooking neutralize this contaminant?

A—The Food and Drug Administration makes constant checks on the amount of strontium-90 and other radioactive elements in water and milk in all parts of the United States and issues reports on their findings every month.

Milk is tested only because it is the most convenient substance in which to measure radioactive concentration. No alarming amounts have been found as of now, although authorities in Minnesota have moved to have cattle fed on stored hay for a time until radioactivity in live forage decays.

Unfortunately cooking does not decrease the concentration of any radioactive elements. Yet, all of them decay with time.

Q—What is a good remedy for clearing up acne in a teenager like me?

A—The cause of acne is complex and varied. Undoubtedly, the changes in the developing sex glands is one factor in the acne of teenagers. Treatment with glandular extracts has been tried without much success.

Much has been written about the effect of diet. One element that must be eliminated from the diet is iodized salt as iodine by itself can cause acne.

Sweets, once thought to be a causative factor have been exonerated, but that doesn't mean you can consume a lot of chocolate milk shakes. Both chocolate and milk have been found to aggravate the condition in some persons.

Other foods that might be a factor include fish, nuts and pork. Scrupulous cleanliness and shampooing with a plain soap at least once a week are essential to successful treatment. If these measures do not help, you should see your doctor or a dermatologist.
